During the greater part of the Winter and Spring Freeman has been missing quantities of oats. He thought the amounts too small to complain to the police until a few weeks ago, when his stable was broken into again.

He was surprised when Detectives smith and Mooney arrested Heoth, and found sixty-five bags of oats in the latter's ceilar. The bags had Freeman's initials stamped on them. Freeman did not think the gang had carried off so large a quantity.

After making an inventory he found that he had been robbed of several thousand dollars' worth of feed, however, during the past few months. Heoth had a horse and wagon, which he used in carting off the oats and other property.
